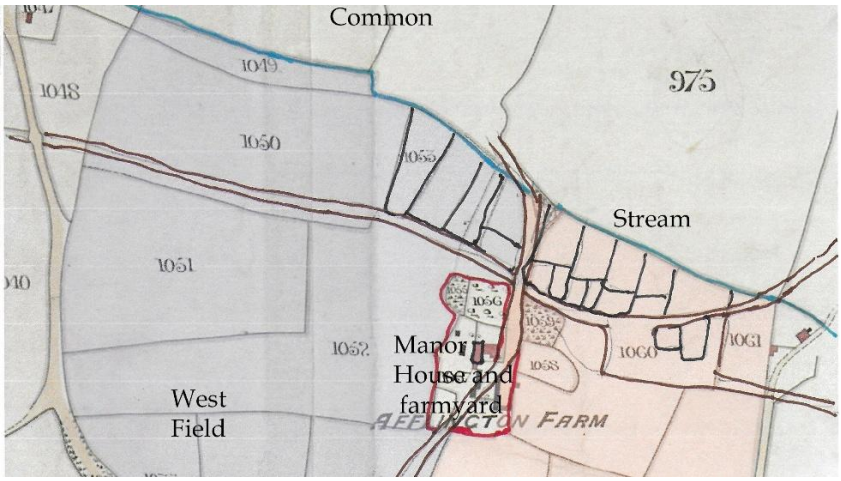
Langton Matravers Local History and Preservation Society

An evening talk by Chris Tripp, with an introduction by Mary Sparks:

The Dig at the Deserted Medieval Village at Afflington

After an introduction which sets the manor of Afflington near Corfe in its spatial, social and historical context, Chris Tripp (leader of the Dorset Diggers Community Archaeology group) will update us on the exciting finds so far at the site. The settlement was active in the medieval period, and the dig is already revealing new discoveries, telling us more about when and why the site was deserted.



Thursday 16th April, 7 for 7.30pm.

At Langton Matravers Village Hall

All are Welcome. Refreshments will be available.
